

ST 705 Linear models and variance components

Lab practice problem set 4

January 31, 2024

1. Show that the  $R^2$  value for a simple linear regression can never achieve 1 if the observed data consists of repeated (different) observations of the response,  $y$ , at the same value of the predictor,  $x$ .